SUBJECT: Importance of Incident Report

Incident response planning is the pillar of restoration both for before an incident occurs and after it occurs. Taking a deeper look into the forensics of analysis and how much support that could give an organization goes beyond just preparation. Incident reports can give insight to the patches and bring out other vulnerabilities such as how often patches need to made and where the organization as a whole needs further support. Many factors of an incident report can highlight vulnerabilities as you scale your organization.Finally it can help a company after new employees come to the company.

Thank you,
